for a local demand for his own time and for that of his workmen or move on. In the latter case, the local market is one that no more mercantile establishment can be built up in any community unless there is local patronage to sustain its activity. The local market is, therefore, not sufficient to the development of such an establishment that it receive but partial support of its energy and enterprise from the local market. Such stores could not grow if local consumers of its goods supplied a part of their needs at home and went to other towns for the remainder.

The same principle runs through all the business transactions of every community. Every sector of population must be able to contribute to the growth of the cities or disintegrate. It must attract capital and labor by demonstrating that it can contribute to the growth of the community by the use of its own resources. It must supply its own needs as far as possible before going abroad. Upon no other basis can a community be built up. It can only grow if it can supply anywhere ever grown and prospered. It is a policy that must be systematically pursued in Louisville if this city is to become a great power among the municipalities of the south.

Application of a like policy to the trade relationships of the larger community with the smaller community is equally important to the growth and progress of the community. Wealth, and this is a subject that will bear serious discussion at the forthcoming annual meeting of the Kentucky State Association, is not to be gained by the state seceding to get together and to plan as other states have successfully planned for its development (1) by the employment of the state's own resources, (2) by the attraction of strength from abroad.

The natural resources of Kentucky furnish great encouragement for effort as well as opportunity. The state is not so supplemented by determined course of action by its own people to count heavily for the state's growth, in commerce, as the state of New York, Pennsylvania, and the Illinois Commercial.

The Epworth League will hold a literary meeting Saturday evening at 7.30. Let everybody come prepared to answer the roll call with a verse, or verse, or a hymn that has influenced you for good, time, your favorite perhaps. Everybody invited to take part.

It is not a vain thing for people of common interests to meet together and discuss the various "ways and means" of perfecting their work. Our Sunday School Convention is just doing good by bringing the good that each school "knows to do" before the body and thus we are making a better world.

It is a real disappointment not to be able to attend all things.

"As the sun rises upon the tender herb, and the showers upon the grain," so let us not "despise a day" of "things," and though we work for so small a thing as "local opinion," "know ye not that the little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?" We people of Bowleyville District are working to get the school and men to have all the honor of putting down the evil thing. If you could get your brother, Sunday-school, or good friend to stop drinking today, you wouldn't wait a while for everybody to stop. Be it never so small, let us have a clean place here and there, and work that these plans may grow larger and more numerous and constant.

PLANS TO QUICKEN THE INTEREST IN SUNDAY SCHOOL WORK.

There are quite a number of plans that might be enumerated and discussed as to quickening the interest in Sunday School work. But do not feel content to give and thoroughly discuss this question so I will only speak of what I consider the most important.

First—it is a known fact that in our secular school it is essentially necessary to have apparatus for demonstrating and placing before the pupils the ideas in a correct way that can readily be acquired and easily retained, and even it is necessary that we are provided with this in our Sunday school work. Two of the most important is the black-board and map.

Blackboard and map illustrations will quicken and inspire a pupil when almost all else has failed, when the lesson itself is so hard to understand. The proper use of these helps by the superintendent or teacher, will relieve the pupils mind of this burden and quicken the interest that without this help would be lost.

Second—Officers and teachers.
In these lies all the rule and control of the Sunday School. It is important that we have men and women of earnest effort and Christian zeal to fill these places and inspire inspiration to the school order, punctuality, and precision on the part of the officers and teachers, will awaken that interest in the school work. The successful teachers in this field of labor are men and women of heart-positives. Those who can love the erring and wayward. And their happy influence and success know that the heart knows the heart. And special emphasis needs to be given to the fact that the teacher's love is to be shown most conscientiously toward the pupils that need it most, not to the most deserving, but to the least deserving.

The love of the true teacher takes hold of the child's future, and it sees even in the wayward, the possibilities of a noble man or woman. It is this love that lifts up the fallen, carries light into moral darkness and sends the missionary to the heathen.

Third—There are many motives used as incentives to quicken the interest of the Sunday School which I will only mention the most important.

First—A desire for advancement.
The mind is endowed with a spontaneous craving for knowledge and this craving is especially keen and active in childhood, the craving for knowledge is as much an appetite as the body's craving for food is an appetite of the body, and it is just as definite, though higher, an ulterior purpose, and it may be added that it is only to those who seek her that she reveals her highest beauty and charm.

The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge, but love denotes wisdom and instruction." Prov. 1:7.

Second—A desire to be useful.
"This is a very important incentive and each member of our Sunday School should feel that he can be of some use to the world. He must remember that God made him for some purpose. He can be thus useful by doing the mind with knowledge and filling up this life with little deeds of kindness. They are all great deeds in the eyes of the Lord, and at this moment comes to my mind the language of the poet:

TO MY CHILDREN.

DAYS, months and years have passed away, But the past seems spread on the carpet to-day. When I think of you little hands and tiny little feet Who were always ready, any footstep to greet. Where are those children who once sat on my knee, As sweet and dear as any children could be? Echo answers some are leading a business life, Others filling the place of dear, good house-wife, And others have been transplanted in a fairer clime, Whose lot is far better than yours or mine. A few yet linger around the old hearth-stone Who are no too young to try opinions of their own.

Children, the old home is as it was when you went away, But mother and father are now turning gray. Did you ever picture mother when she's old With silver threads among the gold? Do not let your hearts grow cold, But love me dearer when I am old. My heart is as full of love to-day For the absent as when they went away. And I am just as proud of my girls and boys As I was when they played with their toys. But now it is a different kind of pride, Such as you find in this land so wide.

Children, your attention one moment I pray, Probably you may profit by what I have to say. Pay close attention, and I will tell How both boys and girls can always do well. As through Life's flowery pathway you glide, Seek Honor and Truth, but nothing to hide; Heaven be your watch-word, Zenith your day star, And there is nothing your life will mar. Be gentle and kind to each other Never forgetting you are a sister or a brother. In sickness, sorrow, weal or woe, Stick to each other wherever you go.

And now, dear ones, when this earth fades from my view Remember the most of my life has been spent for you. And in so doing I have not forgotten to pray That He may reunite us some golden day. And when I am called to join the little band That has gone on before to the bright happy land, Think of mother's spirit hovering o'er you, Trying each one of your foot-steps to allure, Still pointing you to a Throne of Grace Divine, When a loving Saviour around His arm entwine. And when we are again reunited, what joy! what pleasure! Our happiness and rejoicing will know no measure.

You can stand among the saints
And have a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them
You can be a hand to help them

Quicken the little people with such thoughts and interest them in the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom. Inspire them with the love of God and his kingdom.

Third—A desire to do right.
This is indeed the highest, and holiest of all the motives of human life. And the sense of duty is no less important. Duty is the call of God, and duty well done always brings its reward.

Do what conscience says is right,
Do what reason says is best,
Do what duty says is right,
Do what duty says is right.

Fourth—And last, but not least, comes the home influence.

Here is the place to quicken the greatest interest in Sunday school work. We cannot find anything that equals and yields such an influence as the home.

This is the first great engine of education. The first great engine put in motion by the love of Christ in his church.

Here the Sunday school boys and girls of our land. In the home we find all the materials for Sunday school, and, if this home is shining in Christ's light and using its influence for Christ, we need nothing better to quicken the interest of a Sunday school.

But we must remember that every child is not so surrounded as to have every encouragement that is necessary to make its life happy and to enjoy the blessings God has designed for it. But the Sunday school is a means by which this Eternal Life can be attained, for there are many who are not yet saved. Go by your own hearts, do not let the words of others deceive you. We must gather up for Him.

HARDINBURG.

Prof. Fowler has closed his school at Custer and is spending a few weeks here in the N. C. College.

The Baptist people of Glendene are talking of building a new church at that place in the near future.

Miss Georgia McCabbin, of Stephentown, came over last Sunday to visit her sister, Mrs. Geoffrey Haswell.

That evening train on the branch gives the railroad boys something to do. The public were glad to see it put back.

Dr. T. D. Banford will be in Hardinburg, prepared to do palatine, first class dentistry, the first Monday in June, Permanent location at Cloverport.

We will sell you bacon, fowl, lard, canned goods, and many other things that you use in your family as cheap as you can buy elsewhere, and deliver it to your door.

CLINT HOOK, Sec'y.

Mrs. Owen Cunningham returned last Thursday from a meeting of the Women's Board of Missions, at Nashville.

She spent a week there, and reports that she had a most delightful trip, besides enjoying the pleasure of meeting some of the most cultured women engaged in missionary work.

We regret to learn that Mrs. H. H. H. of one of the oldest citizens in the Lost Run neighborhood, is quite feeble in health and unable to be about. Mr. H. H. is one of the old class of citizens in the county, and in days past was an

GLENDENE—"I can call spirits from the very deep."
HOTSPUR—"Why, so can I, or so can any man."

"But will they come when you do call for them?"—SHAKESPEARE.
How quickly Hotspur's wit and witiness turns the tables made in white, Glendower stalks, and shows before the sea's role, the motley of the mountebank. Most people would have taken the Welchman at his word, and called him a liar, without noting the difference between to call and to command.

Certain points of comparison are suggested between Glendower's tragic claim and the comic claim made in some of our contemporary advertisements. "I know all about women." I understand women, and I can cure women because I am a woman." The modern Mrs. Hotspur puts her finger right on the weak point of that claim by saying: "Why if you can cure women simply because you are a woman, then so can I and so can any woman." Which very plainly brings out the common sense fact that the cure of diseases does not depend upon being a man or being a woman but depend upon being a human being with a knowledge of anatomy. There is, as far as is known, no qualified woman physician associated with any proprietary medicine firm. It is certain that there is no one, man or woman, who can show an experience or record equal to that of Dr. R. W. Pierce; more than thirty years of treatment of women's diseases with ninety-eight per cent. cured out of more than half-a-million women treated. Sick women can consult Dr. Pierce by letter absolutely free of charge. Every letter is held strictly private and securely confidential. All answers are mailed securely sealed in perfectly plain envelopes. Address Dr. R. W. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

For this reason the meeting of the missionary society will be held at her home, instead of at Mrs. C. L. Deane's, Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Wheeling, W. Va. He writes: "I received of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of eczema, which has caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have gained by using Electric Bitters, the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates, cleanses and heals, expels the poison, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by Short & Haynes, Druggist. Guaranteed.

GOW. CANDLER PEARL S.S.S.

He has Used it for Fifteen Years, and Declares it is the Best Blood Purifier and Tonic Made. Strong Words from Georgia's Chief Executive.

There is not one person in a hundred, whose system can successfully withstand the severe drains of the Spring season without the aid of a tonic. All of the accumulated impurities of a year must now be eliminated, and this cannot be done without the use of a blood purifier, and I am sure the best tonic I ever used. For many years my digestion was bad, but the occasional use of a bottle of S.S.S. has entirely cured me of this malady, and I now eat with perfect impunity anything set before me.

Allen D. Candler. Faithful to every trust, his rugged honesty is his shining virtue. His word is accepted far and wide, for he never gives an endorsement without absolute knowledge of the merits of an article. Governor Candler has used S.S.S. for fifteen years; he knows that it is made of the native roots of Georgia—that it contains no drugs of any description—and it unobtainably says that it is the best tonic he ever used. S.S.S. is the only tonic which contains no poison, soda, arsenic or other dangerous stimulant. You need S.S.S. to get your system into perfect health, to thoroughly cleanse the blood, improve your appetite, and renovate your system. Insist upon S.S.S. and take nothing else.

THE GOVERNOR'S UNQUALIFIED ENDORSEMENT

STATE OF GEORGIA, Executive Office.

Atlanta, May 8, 1899.

I have for fifteen years used S.S.S. as a remedy for rheumatism and as a tonic. It is unquestionably a good blood purifier, and I am sure the best tonic I ever used. For many years my digestion was bad, but the occasional use of a bottle of S.S.S. has entirely cured me of this malady, and I now eat with perfect impunity anything set before me.

S.S.S. is the only tonic which contains no poison, soda, arsenic or other dangerous stimulant. You need S.S.S. to get your system into perfect health, to thoroughly cleanse the blood, improve your appetite, and renovate your system. Insist upon S.S.S. and take nothing else.
